

Restorative Approaches

Habits of Mind

Create and Innovate Circle

Overview: Creating, imagining, and innovating involves finding new ways to approach problems, trying new and novel ideas, and embracing originality.

Round 1: How are you doing today?

Round 2: What is a challenge that you repeatedly encounter on the MUS campus?

Round 3: What is a possible solution or new system that could be developed to address the problem you identified?

Round 4: What steps might you take to move forward with your idea to improve upon the problem that you addressed?

Round 5: How do you feel about today's circle?

Restorative Approaches

Habits of Mind

Wonderment and Awe Circle

Overview: Responding with wonderment and awe involves enjoying the learning process and finding the world awesome and mysterious while being intrigued with phenomena and beauty.

Round 1: How are you doing today?

Round 2: How does it feel when you are in the presence of something beautiful or amazing?

Round 3: What is something mysterious that you'd like to get to learn more about? What is something you wonder about?

Round 4: Why is it important to reflect upon the things that you find beautiful, amazing, or mysterious?

Round 5: How do you feel about today's circle?

